All changes to the handbook procedures shall be published in the Agenda Book prepared for the next Board of Governors’ meeting following the change. The vice president for electronic products and services is responsible for seeing that a copy of the then-current handbook is distributed to each member of the Electronic Products & Services Board, operations committees, and the Board of Governors at the beginning of each calendar year.

25.3 OPERATIONS COMMITTEES

25.3.1 Duties

The operations committees of the Electronic Products & Services Board shall be the Web Operations Committee, the Digital Library Committee, the eLearning Committee, the Community Development Committee and other ad hoc committees established by the vice president of electronic products and services. Each of these operations committees shall deal with the electronic product distribution process and shall recommend and initiate changes in practice where necessary to assure that quality, budget, and time constraints can be met. Operations committees shall inform the Electronic Products & Services Board about ongoing products and plans, and undertake other assignments as specified by the Board.

This person would also have authority to approve the inclusion on our web site of new material and links, and to recommend expenditure of funds for prototypes and new projects. Decisions made by the Web EIC must be acceptable to the Electronic Products & Services Board.

Insert new section 25.4.2 and renumber subsequent sections appropriately:

25.4.2 Duties and Responsibilities of other Electronic EICs

EICs of other electronic products or services shall be responsible to maintain a plan or vision statement for the product or service. This plan shall include: (1) an overview of the publication including challenges and opportunities, (2) the tasks of the EIC to meet the challenges and to exploit the opportunities, (3) the objective milestones associated with the intermediate and final accomplishment of these tasks, (4) the projected schedules for the accomplishment of these milestones, (5) the projected organization which will accomplish these tasks, and (6) the funding requirements to accomplish these tasks.

25.4.2 Editor-in-Chief Appointments and Search Process

The vice president for electronic products and services shall establish an ad hoc EIC Search Committee for the open position, with the approval of the president. The search committee should develop a list of applicants through open solicitation. The applicants are most likely to be drawn from people who have some web or electronic products experience, and from those nominated as a result of the open solicitation. Nominations and applications shall be sought from technical committees, conferences, and other editorial boards. As the search progresses, the search committee should keep the vice president and president aware of the candidates being considered. The functions of each body and officer need to be well understood by all involved: the search committee's function is to identify and evaluate applicants, and to select and recommend candidates from the applicants; the Electronic Products & Services Board reviews those candidates and makes its recommendations to the president; the president evaluates, selects, and appoints the EIC from the candidates brought forward by the search committee; and the Board of Governors reviews and consents to the appointment.

Editors-in-Chief may be appointed for a maximum of two consecutive terms for a given position. A term is two years but may be extended to no more than three years in the case of a new product or service, the unexpected replacement of an EIC, termination of a product or service, or other extenuating circumstances. The exact duration of an extended term will be indicated at the time of appointment of the new EIC. At the discretion of the Vice President for Electronic Products and Services, the first two-year term of office of the Editor-in-Chief shall begin with the appearance of that product or service.

25.5 OBJECTIVES AND OPERATING PRINCIPLES

The Computer Society’s formal vision statement, set forth in its 2001 strategic plan, The World’s Computer Society, is to be the leading provider of technical information to the world’s computer professionals.

25.5.1 Objectives

The objectives of the CS electronic products program in service of the society’s vision are:

25.5.1.1 Electronic delivery methods should be used to better meet the needs of our members by improving their ability to identify relevant technical information, and to obtain access to that information with greater speed and convenience.

25.5.1.2 The society will clearly identify refereed and archival materials and is committed to maintaining eternal, accessible storage of archival products in electronic forms.

25.5.1.3 All electronic products will uphold at least the same standards of excellence as our comparable traditional products.

25.5.2 Operating Principles

To achieve these objectives, the society will operate its program within the following policies and guidelines.

25.5.2.1
All electronic products should document their target audience, the value/benefit provided to that audience, and an outline of the model used to create and maintain the content.

25.5.2.2
With the exception of those products designed specifically for membership benefits only and not for revenue generation, electronic products electronic products should generate revenues sufficient to recover both their marginal cost of production and a prorated share of the costs of preparing the information for publication in any medium.

25.5.2.3
When subscription is needed to access a revenue generating product, subscription access to electronic products should be routinely accomplished through the IEEE member and subscription sign-up and renewal processes, not a separate process with separate billings and fulfillment costs. Adding the ability to sign up new members and subscriptions via the web, and to allow members to update their own address records on-line, should be a high priority.

25.5.2.4
Initial pricing model for each instance electronic product will be specified in the Handbook.
