Changes to IEEE Computer Society Bylaws

The IEEE Computer Society Board of Governors recently approved the first reading of amendments to the Society’s Bylaws describing the Treasurer’s duties.

Amendments to Article V Section V Article V Powers and Duties Section 6 clarifies that the treasurer chairs the Finance Committee and updates the treasurer’s role: The treasurer shall be responsible for working with the Computer Society’s finance staff to review and present the Society's annual budget, financial reports, and finances of strategic initiatives to the Finance Committee and the Board of Governors.

The proposed bylaws section is here for review. Changes are marked in the text. Only the relevant segments of the bylaws in question are reproduced.

Changes to existing Society bylaws that receive first- and second-reading approval by the Board of Governors are announced in the Insider member newsletter, with links to a website hosting the bylaws documents. The documents remain accessible at this location until such time as the amendments receive final approval.

Members can send comments on the proposed bylaws amendments to Anne Marie Kelly (amkelly@computer.org) by close of business, Friday, 31 May 2024.

BYLAWS ARTICLE V - POWERS AND DUTIES

Section 6 Treasurer’s Duties

The treasurer shall chair the Finance Committee. The treasurer shall be responsible for working with preparing the Computer Society’s finance staff to review and present the Society's annual budget, financial reports, and finances of strategic initiatives to the Finance Committee and the Board of Governors, monitoring its income and expenses, and coordinating with the IEEE on the Society's financial matters including the Society's assets and investments.